Raymond Desautel and Dave Brasser, Grand hotel, received injuries last Friday after being struck and knocked down at the intersection of Jasper avenue and 100 street, by a fast-travelling automobile, according to city police reports.

Desautel's injuries included a lacerated right hand, which required two stitches to close, and bruises to the right leg. Brasser received cuts and bruises to the right leg. The men stated that they were walking across Jasper avenue about 8:45 p.m., when the auto came along. After driving half a block west, the vehicle stopped and the driver returned to the scene of the accident. The latter then drove both men to hospital, where he said he would wait and pay for any necessary medical services. When the injuries had been attended to, they stated, neither the doctor nor themselves could find any driver around the scene. He did not learn his name.

Right shoulder of a leather jacket worn by Desautel was torn, as was Brasser's suit leg, they said.

North Country May Be Source Many Metals

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—(CPI)—A. W. Joffe, geologist of the mines and resources department, who worked last summer in the Yellowknife district of the Northwest Territories, has returned to Ottawa with the news that the district—usually regarded as a "gold country"—may be a source of many metals.

In a statement issued yesterday the mines department said samples containing each of these metals have been obtained by the party and are on their way to Ottawa where they will be tested.

Joffe is making an extended report, but in view of the "great importance" of his findings the public should know of them at once as all mining companies and prospectors would be on equal footing if they wished to prospect the area.

Geologists do not stake claims and do no diamond drilling. All the samples brought back on this occasion were surface samples and the prospectors define leads. Except for the prospecting of lead, the Yellowknife district lies 70 miles north of Great Slave Lake, 70 miles north of Edmonton, while it is probably too late for many prospectors to follow up the find this fall, officials here expect the results will be well covered next summer.

Last year a tin-bearing deposit was stated by prospectors at the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. and this year a number of tin-bearing permits were being carried—some caustic—by Mr. Joffe's party about 25 miles northeast of Yellowknife and 100 miles north of the Thompson Lundmark gold mine.

A specimen of tantalite, one of tantalum from the north of the Yellowknife district, appears to be among the purest specimens of the metal ever obtained, a statement said.

The first tantalite identified in Canada was found 50 miles north of Yellowknife in 1938 and a few occurrences were later found there in Quebec.

MANY MORE FOUND
A search for the rare metal, tantalum, was carried out last summer by the geological survey party uncovered more than 30 additional occurrences in the Yellowknife district, said the department. Tantalum and columbium are becoming of increasing usefulness in such widely-diffusing fields as the preparation of steel, coating of metal and optical glass.

Minerals containing beryllium and lithium were first found in the Yellowknife district in 1935 by the geological survey party. Beryllium concentrations of lithium miners in the Northwest Territories lie 40 to 100 miles east of Yellowknife and rank with the best in the world.

McCauley League Elects Officers
All former officials with the exception of one were re-elected to their offices for the duration of the year, at an annual general meeting of the McCauley Community League, held in the community hall, Sept. 29.

Those appointed were: Mrs. Mary Schull, president; P. E. A. McCallum, vice-president; William Drew and Mrs. Cummings, the new officers are Mrs. Cummings.

The report of the year's work given by Mrs. Schull showed that the work of the league had greatly increased during the year and also the membership.

Hundreds Visit Air School For Letter from Home!

Perfect weather beckoned hundreds of Edmontonians to No. 2 Air Observers' parade grounds yesterday afternoon for the wings parade and sports program on the enlarged grounds and recreation facilities that featured a necessary expansion program at the British Commonwealth Air Training program establishment.

Addressing a large group of airman, navigators and bomb airmen to whom he presented wings, Maj. Gen. W. Foster, D.S.O., special commissioner for Northwest Canada, projects said that airman students must maintain "mental, physical and moral condition to achieve success in the great task ahead of them."

POT JOY FIRST
"Put your job ahead of everything else and in that way you are certain to obtain success," Maj. Gen. Foster said.

The distinguished soldier said that the success crowning the efforts of Allied arms in recent months was due to the necessary co-operation between three great branches of the fighting services: the Army, Navy and Air Force.

He said that against any slackening of effort because of any slackening of the hardest battles are still ahead.

Old Age Pensions

The agreements are now being drawn under which the Dominion will contribute its 75 per cent quota of the old age pensions up to the amount of $25 per month, instead of $20 as heretofore. The arrangement with this province has been completed and payments at the higher schedule will commence with the present month. This new basic rate is the most important feature of the new agreement, the old rate being $20 per month and over and above its 25 per cent share, and will add another $5 per month to make the maximum pension in Alberta $85 per annum.

Premier Manning and his government are to be congratulated because Alberta thus has the distinction of treating its people more fairly than the other provinces. British Columbia—which has also been supplementing the regular pensions with a grant of $10 per month—has not adopted the same scale under the revised agreement with the Dominion. Manitoba, Ontario and Nova Scotia have also been making supplementary allowances and it is possible they will continue to do so. In only three of the nine provinces have there been no extra allowances to supplement the federal grants. This improvement in the position of the pensioners by raising of the basic rate everywhere amounts to 25 per cent, while in Alberta the percentage is more than 50 per cent better off than he was when $20 was the maximum he could get.

The pension scheme is still in need of a drastic overhaul in its present form. The qualifying age should be brought down to 60 years. The requirement that a person must be on the verge of destitution to obtain a pension should be abolished. Agreement with it should go the condition that a pensioner must turn over his home to the government, retaining only a life tenancy. These restrictions are based on the conception that an old age pension is a relief measure or a charitable donation. That is a fundamental misconception. Every person who contributes a life time of self-supporting industry to the country is entitled to be free of the fear of want in old age. A retirement pension should be paid as a right to every citizen who reaches the qualifying age.

That would shift the status of the pension from that of a charity to that of deferred payment for service rendered to the country which it should be.

Liberal Policy

Only a summary has been made public of the resolutions passed at the conference of the National Liberal Federation at Ottawa. These have been submitted to the cabinet for study, and the text of the fifteen recommendations may be given out later. Until this is done the proposals can only be understood in their general bearing and misapprehensions may arise from the vague language in which they are summarized.

That these proposals are intended to replace the program announced by Mr. King in 1935 is not to be supposed, and if they are unclear for that. That program was overwhelmingly rejected by the voters. So was the war policy submitted to the electors in 1940. The result of those two elections was the defeat of the Conservative party as an effective political body, and the corresponding establishment of the Liberal party as the directing force in national affairs. The Conservative organization has changed its name and appointed a new leader, but the country has still to learn what Mr. Bracken and his associates have to offer for the future. They were returned to power.

But the Government has suffered a severe loss of popular support, and the Liberal party a substantial measure of prestige. This did not come about through the restoration to public favor of its traditional opponent, but by the failure to implement the policy on domestic matters so stringently endorsed by the voters in 1935. The Prime Minister has been immersed in the terrific responsibilities involved in carrying on the war effort, and has made a magnificent job of that. But under Mr. Haley there has been no fulfillment of the expectations which were justifiably raised by promises on which the Government attained power eight years ago.

The "sound" money policy enunciated by Mr. Bennett to the electors in 1935, the policy of the finance minister. The undertaking to use the Bank of Canada to assure currency and credit "in terms of the public need" has still to be made good. To do this Mr. Haley has said, would mean uncontrolled inflation, and on that ground he refuses to use the Bank in the way and for the purpose indicated. In this line the real cause of the slump in popular support of the Government.

What is needed is not a different policy, certainly not a general wartime economic support which the Government has lost.

All Quiet at Madrid

If it has been worrying about what he might do, the world can now breathe freely as to the intentions of Franco of Spain. The fall of Italy removed the anxiety that there may have been on that score—summing there was any. The fate of his fellow-adventurer is the least likely of all immediately probable consequences to accrue to the Franco courage to the sticking point.

For Franco, it is due to remember, is as thorough-going a totalitarian as his vanished Italian confederate has been. He has spoken an enemy of democracy. He owes his place to the help given to him by Mussolini and Hitler. In the pre-war and early-war days he made as loud a noise as either of them about the helplessness and hopelessness of democratic countries and the certain coming of Axis domination.

Spain, according to Franco, was the "spiritual leader" which would shepherd the South American republics into the Hitler fold. He was, he gave the world to understand, not of uncertain mind as to seize Gibraltar and help his patrons chase Britain out of the Mediterranean.

These threats were given sufficient credence that the Allies maintained a large army on the frontier of Spanish Morocco all through the North African campaign. This army can now be sent where it is needed. Franco is a burnt-out squib, and the fact that he hadn't even the courage of back-stabbing Benito. Hitler despises him, and the world can ignore him.

The federal coal administrator has issued an order instructing dealers to serve those of their customers first who have the most urgent needs. Twenty-five per cent of his average needs may therefore be taken as the official estimate of the amount of coal that is being placed at 14,000,000 pounds, against 10,600,000 pounds in 1942. The Canadian has been evidently been living up to the "busy" tradition.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By REV. WINFELD D. RACE
United Church of Canada

The Faith We Need

Our future as a people will depend upon our faith now. There is a widespread disposition to devote our whole thought as well as our whole action to the present urgent task of destroying and destroying the false faith of our enemies. But that would be to make our own faith a mere negation of the things we hate, when we all really know that a saving faith involves the affirmation of the things we love. And since our present possible action is almost entirely negative and destructive, our faith can only keep alive and strong as our thought outstrips our action and affirms the future. It is not enough to be sure that totalitarianism must fail; we must believe that democracy will prevail. It is not enough to believe that the gods of race pride and prejudice are false gods; we must believe that the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ is the only true God. The final proof of these things is for the future; the essence of our faith is our positive assurance that the proof will be forthcoming.

The positive nature of faith further requires that we strive for clarity of thought and fidelity to the nature of things as we make our affirmations. It is significant that the Christian Church has been making more consistent and persistent efforts than any other body to envisage the necessary steps to the world's rebuilding, and that Sir Stafford Cripps has lately urged that the Church continue and enlarge these efforts. This is surely because Christians can see clearly that our faith can ultimately ground itself nowhere but in God, and can prove effective only as it conforms to His nature. And it is His nature to be forever active for the good of His creatures. Therefore our faith can be no passive thing like—

"An anchor that keeps the soul Steadfast and sure while the billows roll"

but must be bravely active like the heroic steamships that serve the world's need for steady calm, war or peace. Christians are able to venture forth in this effective faith because they find in Christ the needed elements for a steamship's success—reliable charts "I am the Way," an efficient crew in His nature, and the engine whose power will outlast the storms ("and the Life").

He claims to hate Nazis and Japs. He says so, loud and long. He would die fighting rather than do their bidding.

YET this man is helping Hitler and Tojo without knowing it. He is doing the things the enemy would most want him to do... he is helping to spread confusion, complacency and disunity among Canadians. He is doing the job for the enemy... for nothing.

HERE IS JUST A SAMPLE OF HIS IRON CROSS-WINNING SPECIALS:

● He babbles around that the war will be over this Christmas or early next year.

He's giving this masterpiece of useful thinking a great play fast now and it is helping to spread complacency, reversing the "phony war" attitude which all but knocked us out in 1940.

● He frequently has a "pet" branch of the fighting forces which he claims is the only one not rotten through and through with politics.

This is his favorite subject in public places as it never fails to develop into a loud and heated argument. Thus those boys present from the Navy, Army and Air Force are treated to good morale shattering pep talk on distrust and disunity.

● He hates the man who seems different. He hates Protestants, he hates Catholics, he hates the French, he hates the Jews.

This is the old Hitler "divide and conquer" tactic, as while we are busy hating one another, our real enemies unite to destroy us.

● The war will end only when the big industrial interests want it to end.

This idiotic bleating, bordering on an innuendo of treason, has a tragic effect on those who watch the casualty lists.

THESE are only a few of his most fragrant enemy-inspired untruths which breed distrust... prolong the war to cost millions of Canadian dollars and Canadian lives. Men have won the Iron Cross for less distinguished service to the Nazis.

The tragic thing is this man thinks he is a good and loyal Canadian. He wants to win the war in the shortest possible time. He forgets that what makes a loyal Canadian is not the church he goes to, the place where he was born, the color of his skin! It's not even the War Bonds he buys, or how many hours he spends in civilian volunteer work.

He forgets that what makes an army irresistibly strong is UNITY and the WILL TO WIN. And that in this war as never before, the people at home are a vital part of the fighting forces, too.

It is hard to say what you think when you hear a friend or neighbor... or someone you don't even know... making irrational and hate-provoking remarks!

BUT WARS ARE NOT WON, OR NEW WORLDS EITHER, BY EASY METHODS.

SO SPEAK UP MEN, WE WANT NO IRON CROSSES HERE!

Don't ease up!

DECISIVE BATTLES...DECISIVE VICTORY...DEPEND ON THE RELENTLESS PROSECUTION OF OUR HOME FRONT DUTIES!

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

KEN MCATLEY dug deeply into local baseball who's who last for the all-star team he is sending against No. 3 "M" Depot in tonight's charity football game at Kingsway Park, starting time for which is 6 o'clock. The same teams meet again tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The proceeds are for comforts for Canadian prisoners of war in accordance with arrangements made by P. Lt. Bill LaRoque of the Depot.

A battery of umpires three strong and consisting of John Greely, Bob Coxford and George Green will be in charge of the two games.

Here's the lineup: catcher—Tony Loko, Yanks; 1b, Ralph Morgan, Dodgers; 2b, Eddie Williams, Horner; 3b, Frank Wright, Yanks; 4b, Tommy Brant, Dodgers; 5b, Dick Noon, Dodgers; 6b, A. Superstein, Dodgers; 7b, Dan Harker, Dodgers; rover, Lucien Tougas, Dodgers; pitcher—"Chuck" Windsor, Parly 98, and Sonny Wheelfield and Blake Barker, Centrais.

HERE AND THERE...

DAVE KOPAK, former Maple D Leaf juvenile forward who starred with Regina Abbot juniors last winter is leaving in a day for Ottawa where he is to have a tryout with the Boston Bruins.

Drug Stevenson, spare end for Chicago Black Hawks all last season is in the Army and left for Kingston last night. Stevenson was remembered for the E.A.C. juniors two years ago and could still get under the wire for that division.

Looks as if a new entry may be coming up for the City Basketball League. There is a squad of very enthusiastic hospital patients in the Army base hospital looking for a berth in a local game circuit, according to Lt. Talmadge.

Harley Miller, left-armed shortstop of the U.S. Army Yanks, is on furlough at his home in Keosau, Iowa. Pitcher Johnny Gray is spending his leave in St. Louis, Mo. and expects to sit in on at least a couple of world series games when the Yankees and Cards move west to Sportsman's Park.

And if you should happen to run into one of the local Yanks, ask for a peek at the new wrist watches the city baseball champions are sporting these days. Souvenirs of the recent diamond campaign, these new timepieces are the very latest in chronograph design and craftsmanship and the owners can't praise them justly enough.

When it comes to running it is quite evident that A.C. Bill Dale's speed repertoire is not limited to any one distance. In

Dale Crosses

Line First in Feature Run

A TOTAL of seven events, featured by the cross country race, were held at the No. 2 Air Observer School sports grounds Friday afternoon in connection with the wings parade. The weatherman provided very welcome sunshine and a large crowd, chiefly of the lads in Air Force blue, attended.

The cross country run, a distance of four and a half miles was won by A.C. Bill Dale of No. 4 I.T.S. in the surprisingly good time of 33 minutes and 33 seconds. The Air Observer brothers, captured the team honors in this event.

The football, Smith's trophy for the station championship was captured by the Navigators, the No. 2 team, who defeated the English Rugby Union football team from the Australians 17-10 and Junior Courses defeated the Scouts 24-1 in the soccer match.

TOOK COMMAND
Bill Dale, a great runner, who hails from Victoria and is a former captain of the Washington State team, took command of the line-up in winning the four and a half mile foot race, feature attraction of the afternoon by edging out P. Lt. Walker of A.O.S. by one minute. The star performer (Dale) who led No. 2 Depot to victory in the inter-service track meet titles earlier in the summer, took command at the half way mark and was never in serious difficulty.

The English Rugby Union trophy for the station championship was captured by the Navigators, the No. 2 team, who defeated the English Rugby Union football team from the Australians 17-10 and Junior Courses defeated the Scouts 24-1 in the soccer match.

service track meets held here during the early part of the season, the Victoria airman now at I.T.S. needed only a fast enough clip to pick up points in every sprint he entered. He later beat Tommy Steele in the 200 and 400 yard races and then grabbed off the mile in the big invitation meet here on Labor Day. Yesterday he led the field home in the cross country cancer at No. 2 A.O.S.

Presumably Hugh Fairclough, captain and his New Zealanders at A.O.S. will be satisfied now that they have run the cross country race against the Australians in English rugby. Successful scores of 6-0, 8-5 and yesterday's 17-10 appear to be reasonably convincing proof of the edge the Newcomers claimed.

Parkwood Stable Dominates 38th Running of Coronation

38th Running of Coronation

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—(CP)—The Parkwood stable owned by Col. R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Ont., dominated the 38th running of the $5,000-added Coronation Stakes at Woodbine Park Friday as its double-barreled entry finished heads apart in the second of the autumn classics for Canadian-bred juveniles.

Copeland led Havelton to the wire with Riverside stable's Nimbleshot coming from last place to finish third, three lengths back and on the outside.

Copeland was ridden by Danny Burley who came back by Deery race to win the secondary feature, the $5,000 Zetland Plate, with Con-Grave stable's Apple Tappet.

Two western Canada invaders won at good odds. The Ontario-based Pacesetter placed first in the second race at $15.75, riding Henry Lad and Arcadella, which recently was claimed from its veteran owner by the Fairview stable of Toronto. The Bolla completed a daily double worth $31.25 with Storm Orpilot, winner of the first at $8.45.

Gov's four-year-old, maiden Blue Climates finally graduated in the nightcap, defeating Miller and Part King over a mile and 116th. Blue Climates paid $12.35, $5.95 and $5.95.

Regina Plays Services

In Western Football Today

WINNIPEG, Oct. 2.—(CP)—Two gridiron aggregations who lost their initial games of the season to Winnipeg R.C. A.F. Bombers, battle here today in a Western Interprovincial Rugby Football League contest. They are Dean Griffing's Regina All-Services Roughriders and Bert Warwick's Winnipeg United Services.

The Regina club dropped a 10-2 decision to the Bombers, who took their directions from Reg. Trefall, in the league's inaugural last Saturday at Regina, while the United Services team took a 1-0 beating from the airman in a mid-week game here.

The Griffing coached Roughriders left Regina last night confident they'll take the Winnipeg team in today's meeting.

"We'll have a much improved team to throw in against the United Services team," Coach Griffing said in Regina. "Our line will be in there punching and our backfield traveling at a speedy clip."

The former Kansas university lineman expects to make only one veteran Johnny Garsik, star of many Regina football battles in the past, his only regular line player. Garsik, who remained out of competition last year, has shown up well in recent practices.

Coach Warwick will stand pat on the line-up which gave the Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers a slugging battle for the first half last Wednesday night, only to fade when the Arrows unleashed a store of power in the late stages of the game.

Warwick said last night that Lou Mogul, the team's line coach, insisted in the battle with the Arrows would see action against the Regina squad. Mogul suffered a hurt knee in the fourth quarter but club doctors have pronounced him non-injured.

The event will be part of the day's war bond program.

Game at Winnipeg

Regina Plays Services

In Western Football Today

WINNIPEG, Oct. 2.—(CP)—Two gridiron aggregations who lost their initial games of the season to Winnipeg R.C. A.F. Bombers, battle here today in a Western Interprovincial Rugby Football League contest. They are Dean Griffing's Regina All-Services Roughriders and Bert Warwick's Winnipeg United Services.

The Regina club dropped a 10-2 decision to the Bombers, who took their directions from Reg. Trefall, in the league's inaugural last Saturday at Regina, while the United Services team took a 1-0 beating from the airman in a mid-week game here.

The Griffing coached Roughriders left Regina last night confident they'll take the Winnipeg team in today's meeting.

"We'll have a much improved team to throw in against the United Services team," Coach Griffing said in Regina. "Our line will be in there punching and our backfield traveling at a speedy clip."

The former Kansas university lineman expects to make only one veteran Johnny Garsik, star of many Regina football battles in the past, his only regular line player. Garsik, who remained out of competition last year, has shown up well in recent practices.

Coach Warwick will stand pat on the line-up which gave the Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers a slugging battle for the first half last Wednesday night, only to fade when the Arrows unleashed a store of power in the late stages of the game.

Warwick said last night that Lou Mogul, the team's line coach, insisted in the battle with the Arrows would see action against the Regina squad. Mogul suffered a hurt knee in the fourth quarter but club doctors have pronounced him non-injured.

at the Yanks' spring training camp next year. They are:

From Newark: Right-handed pitcher Walter John Dube and Emerson Gordy Foster; southpaw pitcher Joseph Francis Page and outfielder Donald Savage.

From Kansas City: Southpaw pitcher Willie Arvine Baker and John Clifford Johnson; right-handed batters Floyd Clifford Bevens and Albert Harold Lyons.

Australia's population of 7,700,000 is only two per square mile of the continent.

The hand-py game, winner of three Kentucky Derbies—Zev, 1920; Pitying Ebony, 1925; and Gallant Fox, 1930—and the "Golden Boy" of the race track through the '20s, will be one of four open-boys aboard stable posts at a quarter-mile race for old-time riders at Belmont. The event will be part of the day's war bond program.

Another former Derby winner, Benny McKee, who gained old-time fame in the '20s, will be in the field for the 1941 Pacesetter. The winner also will be in the quarter-mile race.

Big War Bond Sale Expected

Belmont Races

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Unbeaten Pennine and the fast little lady, Boojinga, head a field of 16 in the $60,000 Belmont Futurity today and Alister and Nelson Dublan, the one-two punch from the west, top a 27-horse roster in the 13 Alister handicap, but the "good thing" on the card is that the United States war bond business figures to cash in some $35,000,000 or more from the show.

Every cash customer coming out to back the mutuels has to kick in for a war bond for admission—$25 to the grandstand, $100 to the clubhouse and high bid for boxes. And, with a couple of the boxes bringing as high as $1,000,000 apiece, officials estimate there'd be some $5,000 on hand.

In addition to the Futurity and Alister card also includes the 24th running of the Jockey Club Gold Cup, with Prince Quillo and Belonging as the likely choices.

The two-year-olds will cut up close to $100,000 out of the Futurity. The Alister card also includes the $75,175 wagers at the finish line for the one who can get there first in the 6 1/2 furlong Futurity. The smart money says it's between Pennine, who won the 1940 Kentucky Derby, and Col. Sonny Whitney's Boojinga.

The Alister is a 6 1/2 furlongs also.

Gray-haired Mrs. Neva Burright of Chicago, Ill., confidently expects to win one or more events with Luckette, her eight-year-old gelding, during the race which opens today and close next Friday.

Mrs. Burright, mother of seven children and a driver of more than 20 years' experience, asks no odds and gives none, even though she is 50 years old.

The first woman to win a race on the Grand Circuit, Mrs. Burright has a 17-year-old daughter who expects to start driving races next year.

With at least four other mid-western girls scheduled for Toronto and one for Hamilton during the season, it seems fairly certain first place in the league will be subject to considerable fluctuation.

The game in Toronto should provide the best contest today. Both Wildcats and Beaches feature an open style of play and while the Cats have Joe Krol to lose forward, the Bears have the other weekenders.

Ed Jakubowski still is bothered by a leg injury and will not play for Beaches, but Harry Souther, former Queens' university and Toronto Argonauts star, is expected to make his debut in a comeback.

Toronto Navy has lost both its star players but last night managed to make their opponents look sickly at one time or another. The sailors will be meeting a strengthened Combine team in the capital, Colton Sprague, having signed backfielder Tommy Daley and linebacker Lou Regan, both of whom are expected to be out.

W. Sheley To Play Game With Regina
REGINA, Oct. 2.—(CP)—Wesley Sheley, who forward passing finesse brought Winnipeg Blue Bombers a victory on prairie grids, has promised to play what is supposed to be his last football game in a Regina All-Service Roughrider jersey.

Sheley, now a practice business trip before enlisting in the navy, is supposed to have a last game with the Regina club for its Western Interprovincial Rugby Football league encounter against Winnipeg United Services here Oct. 16.

The dead aviator is survived by one brother in the R.C.A.F. and a sister at home. He played with the champion Maple Leaf Hockey Club. Funeral arrangements are in the hands of McLaughlin-Andrews funeral home.

Fair Weather

Edmonton citizens who had resigned themselves to the fact that winter was fast approaching, were surprised to find that a few days ago, after a week of summer, are taking full advantage of a beautiful Indian summer. Day of cloudless sunshine, and temperature fully as warm as any experienced here in July, are a welcome respite from the thoughts of frost and snow. The fair weather has also greatly assisted the farmers with harvest operations which are nearly com-

Reserve Army Role Stressed At Unit Meet

Canada's Reserve Army still has an important role to play in home defence duties, Maj. W. C. Roberts, brigade major of the 1st (Reserve) Brigade Group told members of the No. 1 (Reserve) Armored Division Ordnance Workshop at a recent smoker in Connaught Armoury.

With the disbanding of the home defence divisions it could be anticipated that the reserve force would be required for special operational duties as were previously under taken by the active force.

Speaking of the history and traditions of the British Army, Major Roberts declared that Oliver Cromwell had introduced the funds of military training which are in vogue today. Prior to Cromwell's time, armies had fought as mobs but the institution of discipline and drill in the Roundhead forces had revolutionized military training in England.

The changing political and economic picture throughout the world, he said, had been reflected in the method of recruiting men, the brigade major said. He sketched briefly the systems used to build armies from the time of the feudal lords to the present day.

SMARTEST IS BEST While criticism was sometimes heard of parade ground routine it had been proven time and again and as recently as Dunkirk that the smart soldier was the best fighting soldier, Major Roberts stated.

He emphasized the necessity of Reserve force personnel applying themselves to the study of basic subjects which, he claimed, were the real essentials in the development of any victorious army.

Sgt. E. J. Walli of the Kenya Defence Force, now on furlough in Canada, spoke to the unit members sketched wartime conditions in Kenya. The Kenya Defence force, he said, played much the same role as Canada's Reserve Army. Other interesting features of the smoker included technical films of the unit training at Camp Saxe and the showing of the Army picture "Battle Is Our Business".

Capt. Charles E. Garnett, officer commanding, was chairman. The weekend is still fair and warm.

The new Edmonton Blood Donor Clinic needs many more men and women between the ages of 18 and 55 to volunteer as blood donors. DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Unattractive Girl Can Be Graceful Beautiful

Dress and Accomplishment, Right Figure, Together With an Amiable and Gay Personality Will Please Friends

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 14. I go to high school and am homely and wear glasses. Please tell me what I can do to make the boys like me.

SALLY: ANSWER: At 14, Sally, you are too young to take up the homely woman's burden, and if you will take my advice you will leave it alone for the next three or four years. Don't bother about your looks and what the boys think of you while you are still a little school girl. Concentrate on your studies.

But let me tell you for your comfort that right now you are at the peak of your homeliness and the worst is over. At 14 a girl is at the beginning of her beauty stage.

when her feet are big and she doesn't know what to do with her hands and her hair is lanky, and she has neither grace nor poise. Practically all girls are ugly ducklings at first. And if you do not turn into Miss America, you will at least be a thousand per cent better looking than you were in your adolescent period.

Now, all I don't dwell on your lack of beauty until you get the ugly girl complex. If you do, you will emphasize your every defect. Learn how to face yourself with assurance. A woman can carry herself 45 per cent above her looks or 45 per cent below them. In the case of the latter, it is a tragedy.

up into smaller particles. Meat seems to be digested in the stomach just as easily in large pieces as though it were in small pieces. The digestion of meat begins in the stomach and is almost entirely a chemical process, the meat being liquefied by the chemical action of the gastric juice upon it. This liquefied it is ready to pass into the small intestine.

The digestive juice of the stomach is of an acid nature, and the digestive elements in the gastric juice can act only in this acid medium. If starch is mixed with the meat, the starch will require an alkaline medium and will thus delay the digestion of the meat.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

Most children, at some time or another, exhibit signs of temper. Mothers think they begin to see evidence of this even in the tiny baby, who when his free movements are inhibited can cry and wave his arms furiously and look exceedingly mad.

When the child gets old enough to have desires of his own, he can't be put upon without resisting with every ounce of his strength. When mother tries to stuff him into his highchair he can kick and stiffen out like a board. Perhaps mother wants to get the morning mail and he follows her out and won't come back in again. Grandma comes to visit and he must go back home with her. The bath doesn't intrigue him nor the bed at nap time. He meets all of these situations with screams and fits.

Well, what shall one do about it? Punish a child for resisting? Punish him for having a temper? I don't think so. It's a pretty good evidence of intelligence when a child resists being imposed upon. It's a real matter for worry when a child can be pushed around and shows no emotion about it.

For in all the above cases the parent is imposing her will above that of the child's desires. Sometimes it is necessary and then one simply has to ignore the child's temper. He has to sit down to eat, he has to come in the house, he can't always follow Grandma and baby and bed-times may be unpleasant.

But parents have to take account of their own behaviour when the child is flaring into tantrums too frequently. Because a parent always thinks she is right, she can get too dominating and force. She can become too demanding— even pleasantly so— and must always be obeyed, so that, however mild and calm, she also can be infuriating.

Temper tantrums are indicative of one of two things. The child may find them the only way to get to express himself and it is up to the parent to give in and see that he has legitimate outlets for his own desires. Or, he has an indulgent parent who resists only until the child gets tough and tempery and then gives in. (Such temper tantrums are opportunistic and can be ignored.)

The kind that come from righteous indignation and being dominated are real signs of trouble. In this case, the parent, quite as much as the child, who is stubborn.

Our faithful "Temper Tantrums" discusses this in further detail. It

War Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX

The Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior suggests that the use of domestic rabbit and more fish in our war-time menus will provide good protein delicacies.

Rabbit is fine-grained white meat with up to 21 per cent protein and can be raised easily in the back yard. For many years it has been a popular meat in southern California and in Dutch and German sections of the country.

Here are two "left-over" recipes using rabbit and fish or shell fish.

RABBIT CHOP SUEY

One rabbit, or 2 to 3 cups shredded cooked meat or leftover fowl, 3 tablespoons butter or oil, fat, 2 cups shredded onion, 1 cup shredded green pepper, 2 cups shredded celery, 2 cups bean sprouts, 2 cup broth, 2 tablespoons cornstarch or flour, 1 cup toasted almonds, 4 tablespoons soy sauce.

If starting with uncooked meat, wipe the rabbit with a damp cloth, place on a rack in a kettle, braise with hot water, add 4 teaspoons salt, and partly cover kettle. Simmer until the meat is tender, or about 1½ to 2 hours, and let cool in the broth.

Drain and cut the meat from the bone in thin strips. Melt fat in skillet, add onion and green pepper and cook for a few minutes. Then add the meat and continue cooking, stirring frequently, until meat is slightly browned. Add celery and bean sprouts, and the broth mixed with cornstarch or flour, cover and cook gently for 10 minutes. Stir in almonds which have been broken in halves and the soy sauce. Add salt if needed. Serve with hot boiled rice.

STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS

(Serves 6)

Six green peppers, 3 tablespoons butter or shortening, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon dry or 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, salt, pepper, paprika and seasoning sauce to taste, 1 cup cooked left-over crabmeat or flaked fish, 2 tablespoons grated cheese. Cut the peppers in half lengthwise; remove seeds and shorten with flour and cook until it begins to bubble. Add mustard and milk. When the mixture boils, add crabmeat or fish, bread crumbs, lemon juice and seasonings. Fill the pepper halves and cover tops with buttered crumbs. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Place in shallow pan containing ¼ inch of water and bake about 20 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until tops are brown.

Monday's Menu

Breakfast: Baked apples, shredded whole wheat, enriched toast, grape jelly, coffee, milk.

Lunch: Green peppers stuffed with left-over fish, heated enriched hard rolls, raw carrot sticks, stewed peas, tea, milk.

Dinner: Rabbit chop suey, boiled rice, raw vegetable salad, grape bowl, peanut cookies, coffee, milk.

THE WAR ISN'T WON YET

Sure, we're doing well . . . but it isn't over, and we can't afford to relax our efforts as long as there is a single one of our men within range of enemy fire, nor as long as the enemy has any fighting ability left.

We can hasten victory. We can speed the end of the war. We can get our men back home, victorious and sooner, if we do our part without slackening, without complacency.

And we can quicken the coming of peace and happiness in which our wartime thrift will be rewarded. The Victory Bonds we have bought during the war will be our keys to opportunity, and to the enjoyment of new things when the war is won.

The Fifth Victory Loan will start October 18th. Lend your savings to your country—and plan to lend more out of income.

Every dollar you put into these bonds is still your dollar . . . earning good interest . . . growing into a nest-egg that ensures your future.

You are not giving . . . you are LENDING, and what you lend is helping to shorten the war, to hasten the happy days.

Miss Gertrude Allyn Pledges Vows at Early Morning Service

Autumn leaves in shades of red, cream, roses, gardenias and blue velvet and draped red, together with palms, ferns and bouquets of gladioli, backed the pulpit and choir loft of First Baptist church Saturday at 10 a.m. when Miss Gertrude Allyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Allyn of this city, became the bride of Frederick John Leonard, son of Mrs. John S. Leonard and the late Mr. Leonard of Barrie, Ont. They will make their home in Toronto, where the bridegroom is connected with an insurance firm.

The bride has been assistant superintendent of nurses at the Royal Alexandra hospital for several years. She was graduated from hospital, and has taken post-graduate work in administration at Teachers' College, Columbia University, and in obstetrics at the Royal Victoria hospital in Montreal.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a tuxedo, queen styled dress of coral, with trimmings of ivory tulle, and accessories of navy including a large herby hat of ribbon. Cream gladioli and sweetheart roses were pinned at her shoulders.

Miss Violet Allyn, as her sister's only attendant. She wore a light dress of a frock, black accessories of black and coral, and accessories of black and coral.

The bride's sister, Mrs. C. Thompson, of Banff, was an attendant. She wore a light dress, with a wide collar, and accessories of black and coral.

Footsteps in the Fog

By ELINORE COWAN STONE

YESTERDAY: Student reveals that a submarine had been seen in the distance of the coast. Debarah then had even building a fire bridge. Debarah's thoughts were on the father who had been a soldier in the first world war. Debarah's father was a soldier in the first world war. Debarah's father was a soldier in the first world war.

CHAPTER VIII

FOR a moment, as Stephen came forward, Debarah caught his first real glimpse of the man she had only half suspected behind the boy with whom she had played as an older man, a little hard-hipped little rascal.

"But it was necessary to come," Debarah said. The little man hurried on before Stephen could stop him. "You, yourself, would have been angry not to know it is to be better than we thought. A fishing boat will slip you out through the fog. The Coast Guard—"

"Enough," Stephen interrupted sternly. "Wait here. We will talk later. I am sorry. I am turned to Debarah, speaking again in English. He is an old family servant. Wilhelm. I must talk with him. If you will forgive me."

"Surely. Ask him to come in." "Thank you, but we shall do very well walking about outside." Already he had found his coat to the closet where Debarah hung it, and was slipping it on. In these brief sentences he had gone away again—pleasantly, coolly as always, but very finally behind his hat.

With crisp finality he stepped out into the night and closed the door. Debarah stood, staring after him to follow him through the glass of the door but a few steps down the walk he was gone, and far ahead he was completely engulfed in the mist. As if an unknown, elusive hand had brushed her face, Debarah shivered. "... So is this."

HOLD EVERYTHING

QUIZ DEBARK

"No coaching, please!"

It seemed like hours—it was perhaps 15 minutes before Stephen opened the front door, hung his raincoat in the closet, and came slowly into the living room. He was pale, and more grave than Debarah had ever seen him. For a moment he stood silent looking up the fire, his eyes wide and absent as if it seemed to Debarah he were seeing for the first time with complete clarity something he had always known, but had never fully recognized before for what it really was.

Finally he said without looking at her, "You heard."

"You heard?" I am not sure you mean you understood."

"Enough," Debarah said. "And no more."

"And the devil of it is that I cannot explain. I can only say that I did not plan it. This was I am torn between wanting to like myself for coming here at all, and unaccountably that I shall have no time with you."

But if you must go, Debarah said, "Why not go openly as hundreds of others have done. I could understand that. Why slip out through the fog? And what have you got the Coast Guard to do with it?"

"Unless it's you that summarize the fishermen as all the coast is waiting for—any less they need information that you can give them."

For an instant he stared at her incredulously. Then he gave a short, entirely unconvincing laugh. "Then that's what you believe?"

"I never dreamed that you, too, felt this way about me. What you could hate me so!"

"Hate Stephen? But that was preposterous, when all that the reality comes about him was kind and benevolent and generous."

"Stephen," she stammered, "I don't know what to be. I am confused and a little frightened. Believe me, I don't know what I want. I want to be with you. I want to be with you. I want to be with you."

"I understand about you all that you said, but I don't want to understand it. I want to be with you. I want to be with you. I want to be with you."

"I don't want to be with you. I want to be with you. I want to be with you. I want to be with you. I want to be with you."

"I don't want to be with you. I want to be with you. I want to be with you. I want to be with you. I want to be with you."

half-smothered, frightening thing one tries to pretend just real. "Perhaps," he said gently after a while, "we should have talked more like this. I mean—just in a way, before long, I kept telling myself, perhaps I shall not have any more time to play. ... All the way up the Cape I thought over the things I wanted to say to you. Then I remembered all the things I must not say to you."

"Stephen," she cried, "but must you go?"

"They had been talking across the room, as if neither quite dared to cross the intervening space. Now, all at once, he came forward, and she leaped, half supporting herself on the table behind her."

"Believing what you do, can it matter to you—that I must go?"

"You know it does. ... I think you even know now much?"

"For an instant she was sure of the racing of her own blood that was going to knock her. When he did not, but continued to stand there, his arms stiffly at his sides, his eyes gravely searching hers, she faltered. "You said a little while ago, Stephen, that there were things you wanted to say to me."

"And you know, almost from the beginning, I think."

"Then, if we both understand how can there be anything you must not say to me, Stephen?"

"Because," he said somberly, "for more time than I can look ahead, my life may be bound up with intrigue and violence. And you were not meant for a life like that."

"How can you be so sure?" Debarah's fingers tightened on the edge of the table so that it quivered with her own trembling. "Through wars since my family came to this country alone—not to speak of Indian uprisings—the last women have seen a good deal of fighting and violence."

"If it is that, but the thing I am doing could so very easily end in what many people might call disaster."

"However I end," Debarah said steadily, "I know that nothing you do can be disastrous. Stephen."

And suddenly knew that she was speaking the truth. With an interlarded sound that was half exultant laughter and half protest, he took her in his arms. "I am going to be with you," he repeated. "And before I go there are some things at least that you have to know."

"There is so much I want to know—so little about you."

"And there is still a great deal I cannot tell you. But you must understand enough so that if you read in the papers—I mean if what I am trying to do goes wrong, you won't have to think the worst."

"To Be Continued."

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The hand shown yesterday was well played by Mrs. Seligman. Today's hand is one on which Mrs. Rosen used perfect timing to set up a position in which she could squeeze her opponent and make a three no trump contract when there appeared to be only eight of the nine needed tricks.

Mrs. Rosen should let the king of hearts win the first trick. East had discarded a club and West would shift from the heart suit to avoid forcing East to make an embarrassing discard. West's three of diamonds, dummy's queen was all lost to him. Dummy won a diamond trick with the king. South's low spade was lost from dummy and Mrs. Rosen played the eight, letting West take the trick. West led the jack of diamonds and this time South won with the ace.

Mrs. Rosen now laid down the ace of hearts and East was squeezed. East could not discard without giving dummy an extra spade trick, and a club discard would have the same effect. As dummy's diamond would establish South's nine. So what Mrs. Rosen had to do to make her contract. But East made the famous mistake of letting a spade win. Now South cashed the suit king, the spade ace and the spade queen and had to discard a diamond in order to save the club. South's nine and to the club king, cashed the diamond nine and won the last remaining trick in dummy. This gave her an overtrick and a top score.

ON A NEW MISSION FOR SUPERMAN'S SERVICE FOR SERVICEMEN, THE MAN OF STEEL WINGS TOWARD THE SOUTH PACIFIC ON BEHALF OF MARY STAGE, A WAG
WHOSE MARINE BOY-FRIEND SEEMS TO HAVE GOT HIMSELF A NEW GAL IN THE ANTIPODES.

HM-MM, GUESS I WOULD HAVE
TOLD THE ARMY WAS GOING TO FLY ACROSS THE CALIFORNIA
COASTLINE...

"STILL, IT GIVES THEM A QUARTER
SOME GOOD TARGET
PRACTICE AND NO
HARM DONE!"

AS PER HON.
ORDERS, I HAVE SENT 200 PLANES
TO INTERCEPT
HON. SUPERMAN.
BANZAI!

BANZAI! EVEN
TOMORROW
I MEAN HOPE TO COPE WITH SUCH OVERWHELMING
FORCE!

AND BACK IN THE STATES, AT THE HOME OF LILY FIELD...

"NO DOUBT MY
'FRIENDLY' LETTERS HAVE BROKEN UP THE
ROMANCE BETWEEN
MARY STAGE AND BOB
MARTIN. GUESS I'LL VISIT
MARY AT WAC CAMP
AND GLAD A BIT!"

LILY, I DO WISH
YOU'D DO SOMETHING
TO HELP THE WAR EFFORT INSTEAD OF
BEING JUST A LAZY
UNTHINKING GIRL!

AND WHEN LILY REACHES THE CAMP
WHERE LOIS LANE HAPPENS TO BE ON A NEWSPAPER ASSIGNMENT...

"OH, MARY, MY HEART,
THANKS, DEAR—
MY HEART, YOU'RE A WONDERFUL FRIEND TO HAVE!
TOLD ME ABOUT
BOB'S NEW GIRL!"

LILY, I'D LIKE
TO HAVE YOU
MEET LOIS
LANE...

"OH, AREN'T YOU
THE NEWSPAPER
WOMAN WHO HAS
SUCH MARVELOUS
ADVENTURES WITH SUPERMAN?"

YOU DON'T KNOW HOW
I ENVIY YOU!
I'D JUST LOVE
TO MEET
HIM!

AND NOW—BACK TO SUPERMAN!

MUST BE GETTING CLOSE TO THE GULF
NOW. BUT WHAT'S THAT CLOUD ON THE HORIZON?
LOOK! A SWARM OF LOGGERS!

HON. SUPERMAN SIGHTED!
HEAVY BOMBERS AND DIVE
BOMBERS FLY OVER AND DROP
BOMBS! FIGHTER PLANES USE
CANNONS AND MACHINE GUNS!
ATTACK!

JAP PLANES—200 AGAINST
ONE! I PRETTY UNEVEN ODDS,
BUT CAN I HELP IT IF THEY DON'T SEND ENOUGH
PLANES?!
